Woman's Obituary Blames COVID Vaccine for Her Death

An Oregon woman's obituary has gone viral after her family blamed side effects of the COVID-19 vaccine on her death, and minced no words calling out state and local governments for their "heavy-handed vaccine mandates."

"Jessica Berg Wilson, 37, of Seattle, Washington, passed away unexpectedly September 7, 2021 from COVID-19 vaccine-induced thrombotic thrombocytopenia (VITT) surrounded by her loving family," the obit states. "Jessica was an exceptionally healthy and vibrant 37-year-old young mother with no underlying health conditions."

As vaccine mandates stripped her freedoms from her, she felt pressured to give in and take the shots, the obits says, and "it cost Jessica her life."

"Local and state governments were determined to strip away her right to consult her wisdom and enjoy her freedom," the obit continues. "She had been vehemently opposed to taking the vaccine, knowing she was in good health and of a young age and thus not at risk for serious illness. In her mind, the known and unknown risks of the unproven vaccine were more of a threat.

Wilson left behind a husband and two young daughters, ages 5 and 3.
